

Hello, My name is Teresa. I am Nutmegs mom. I have had Nutmeg since 2001. I saved her from the pound here in San Clemente. My daughter and I searched over the entire county for Nutmeg. We must have gone to 10+ shelters in Orange County. We were looking for the cat that was a perfect fit for our situation at the time. As soon as I held Nutmeg I knew she was meant to be ours. She hugged me. She was a year old and had just had a litter of kittens. They were holding her until her milk sacks went down (before they could fix her) We kept visiting her until one day they had her housed with the sick cats. That was when I begged them to let me take her home until she got better, and promised I would take her to get fixed. Well it worked, they agreed so we took her home. It did not take long before Nutmeg bonded with our family. She has been the most incredible pet I have ever owned. She has been a healthy girl, active, playful, and very loyal. I can't imagine life without her. She now has a mass on her stomach that is being called an aggressive tumor on her mammary gland. It needs to be surgically removed. She has licked it to an open wound. I have her in an e-collar at this time and have been reaching out to several organizations to get some financial help. I have reached out to several organizations and fortunately Keri at Paws 4 A Cure was so sweet and helpful on getting some help for her. I want to thank Keri and her kisses to Nutmeg. That really made me feel good and put a smile on my face every time she would end or correspondences with "Give Nutmeg a Kiss from me." Thank you Paws 4 A Cure & Keri
